CANNOT GRANT GRACE NOW TO REMOVE NON-COMBATANTS

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Aug. 18.—A dispatch to the Central News from Tokio says it has been announced there that the Japanese commander in front of Port Arthur has been unable to accede to a Russian request for grace in order to permit the removal of non-com-batants from that place. Nothing has been received from any other source confirming the foregoing.

PORT ARTHUR FIGHTING.

Last Three Days.

(By Associated Press.)
CHE FOO, August 18-8 P. M.-A battle of huge proportions raged around Port resumed August 17th. The Japanese, it is reported, sacrificed twenty thousand more men, but gained important advantages in the matter of position.

The above news was brought here on junks, one of which, having on board three Russians concealed in the baggage of Chinese to escape from the Japanese, left Port Arthur last night and was blown rapidly to Che Foo by a gale. The main force of the attack was directed against the left wing and resulted in the capture of Pigeon Bay positions and some of the forts at Liao Tieshan. At Palun Chang, the Japanese hastily Apparently an attack, originating in Louisa Bay, swept through the Pigeon Bay positions into the peninsula, in the doing of Africh a majority of the lives of the expedition were sacrificed. On the night of the 15th the battle juiled somewhat, when the Japanese sent the torres of surender to Lieutenant. k, Vladlyostok.

"Capitaln Berlinsky, of the Rossia, was killed and several of his officers were wounded. On board the Gromobol, two leutenants were killed, and other officers were wounded. Both cruisers had 135 men killed, and 397 wounded. Capitaln Berlinsky was buried at sea.

The report concludes by testifying to the heroism displayed by all the officers and men, who, it says, seemed to have been made of iron, knowing no fear or fatigue.

A personal examination of the capital ca terms of surrender to Lieutenant-neral Stoessel. The terms provided t the garrison should march out with that the garrison should march out with the honors of war and join General Kuro-patkin; that all civilians be brought to a place designated by the Japanese ad-miral; that the Russian warships in the harbor, numbering seven, namely, the bat-tleships Retvizan, Sevastopol. Pobieda, Peresylet, Poltaya, the armored cruiser Bayan and the protected cruiser Pallads and track or more corrected boat destroyers and four gunboats, be surrendered to the Japanese.

Lieutenant-General Stoessel is alleged to have received the terms with a burst of wonderful profanity, his habitual tactiurnity deserting him. He strode the floor until he became calmer, and then remarked that if the Japanese proposition was a joke it was in bad taste.

ST, PETERSBURG, August 18.—Emperor Nicholas has received a dispatch from Viceroy Alexiedf, dated at Viadivostok, August 17th, saying that the cruisers Rossia and Gromobol, of the Viadivostok squadron, returned to Vladivostok August 17th, saying that the cruisers Rossia and Gromobol, of the Viadivostok Squadron, returned to Vladivostok August 18th, and communicating the following report made by Rear-Admiral Jessen, commander of the squadron:

"At dawn on August 14th the Rossia, and thirty miles from the northern lighthouse of Tsu Island. When to the westerward I saw a Japanese squadron of armored cruisers, six miles to the north, traveling parallel with our course. The squadron consisted of four vessels of the Iwate type, and was putting on full speed.
"It took a course to the northward, with a view to attaining the open sea, but the enemy, who was of superior speed, turned humedately and took has same course. I was, therefore, obliged to engage in battle, which commenced at 5 o'clock in the morning at a distance of sixty cables between the two squadrons. (A cable length is two hundred yards.)

At a convenient opportunity we rapidly turned to the right inlending to approach the Korean coast, and by increasing our speed to seventeen kourse towards us for the purpose of hindering our design.

"Hardly five minutes passed before the Burk left the ranks and signatied that her satering gear was disabled. I replied: These with the engines, and continued on my former course. Seeing: that all of the Japanese cruisers was augusted that her satering gear was disabled.

There was a hall of shells for twenty minutes, and the Askold was badly damaged, but the manoeuvres had succeeden, the Japanese circle was broken and the Askold, steaming twenty knots, escaped. The Palada and the Diana were lost sight of in the darkness.

In view of the impossibility of repairing the Askold without going into dock, Captain Reitenstein proceeded for Shanghal, Captain Reitenstein's report is long, and detailed but barely concerns his own, vessel. It especially commends the chaplain of the cruiser for heroically going to the officers and crew and the ships doctor for attending the wounded amid a hall of shells.

"The Rurik kept a course approximately southeast at a distance of three miles.

"The battle continued for two hours in this manner. We suffered considerable damage. The Rossia had three funnels pierced, which prevented her from keeping up good steam, and three of her boilers were rendered useless. At 2:30 the Rurik began to lag behind considerably, and again turned her bows toward the shore, at the same time fightling against the two secondiciasy cruisers which had joined the enemy's squadron.

"The Rurik soon afterwards began to get out of sight. Vice-Admiral Kamimura, with four armored cruisers, kept steadfastly engaging us in such manner as to keep us from assisting the Rurik.

"While the Rurik continued fighting, we continued our efforts to attract the enemy further north, in the hope that the Rurik would manage to dispose of her two comparatively weaker opponents, and that after repairing the damage to her rudder, she would be able to reach Vladivostok indopendently.

"Shortly before ten o'clock, the enemy's fire was the most terrific of the battle, but to our general astonishment, the whole Japanese squadron left us after the mostly deadly fight which had lasted live hours.

"The Rossia had sustained eleven holes at her waterline and the Gromobol had six. The cruisers lost more than half of their officers, and the losses among the men totalled 25 per cent.

"It appeared impossible to renew the battle or return to the Rurik, which was now thirty miles to the south.

"Taking advantage of the calm, we stopped our engines and quickly commenced to repair the breaches in our vessels, so as to enable us to proceed to Vladivostok.

The chief engineer of the customs department reports that the Russian vorsels are not seaworthy. The repairs being made by the Russians on the Grozovol will be completed in about ten days.
It is uncertain when the repairs to the

There is no uneasiness here, although the situation is thought to be acute. The Shanghai to soize the Russian warships there.

Japan always has taken the ground that Shanghai is an international port, and during her war with China she refrained from attacking it. Japan relies on the Chinese government to disarm the cruiser Askol and the destroyer Grozovoi, but there is no doubt that she will blockade the mouth of the Yangtse to prevent the escape of the Russian vessels.

Not Give Up Destroyer.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Japan has officially notified Great Britlan that she does not propose to give up the Russian torpedo boat destroyer, Ryeshiteini, captured in the harbor of Chee Foo, August 12.

the harbor at 5:30 A. M. to-day. They remained half an hour and then departed. Five other destroyers are reported

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 19.—The Emperor has received from Captain Reitzenstein, commander of the cruiser division at Port. Arthur, a report of the battle of August 10th, dated at Shanghai. The report says the squadron began to move into the outer roadstead at 5 o'clock in the morning and at 8:30 the following vessels, issued in single file, preceded by mine clearing launches: The battle-ships Czarevitch flying the flag of Rear Admiral Withoft, commanding the squadren; Retvizan, Pobelda, Persivist, flying the flag of Rear Admiral Prince Ouktomsky, commanding the cruiser division, and the cruisers Palada and Diana. The protected cruiser Novik went ahead of the squadron, leading the first torped fiotilla, while two gunboats and another torpedo flotilla accompanied the fleet to protect the mine clearers on their way back. The hospital ship Mongolia flying the red cross flag, also accompanied the squadron had attained, but it occupied two hours. At 9 o'clock Admiral Withoft gave the six, pal to make for Viadivoskok, and the mine clearers started back to the harbor. Midday the squadron had attained as speed of 12 knots. The ships came steaming up from all directions and soon attacked the Askoid, which was the first Russian ship to be badly damaged. The Japanese, sonstantly nearing, pouring in a hot fire, and at 0 o'clock in the sevening the Czarevitch steamed along the line of Russian ships signaling "Admiral transfers commande," which was accordingly assumed by Rear Adriral Prince Ouktomsky.

11 was then decided to try and break through the surrounding Japanese, ships (By Associated Press.)

ST PETERSBURG, Aug. 18.—It becmes more and more probable that Russia will meet the views of the United States and Great Britain regarding foodstuffs as contraband of war by agreeing that foodstuffs bound to a beliegerent's unblock-aded ports and consigned to private firms or individuals, when the ship's papers leave no room for suspicion, be not regarded as contraband.

The subject is now under consideration. The emperor's government appears to be destrious of adjusting the question of the flour on board the Arabia, confiscated by the Viadivostok prize court, but it is should be appealed to the admirality court makes it difficult to adjust it diplomatically, and it is suggested that the case should be appealed to the admirality court bere.

The Japanese, constantly nearing, pouring in a hot fire, and at 6 o'clock in the evening the Czarevitch steamed along the line of Russian ships signaling "Admiral transfers command," which wan accordingly assumed by Rear Aurital Prince Ouklomsky.
